۴	Passage ١ A collocation is two or more words combined together. These combinations sound natural to native speakers, but students of English have to learn them with exercise because they are often difficult to guess. The unnatural combinations are wrong for native speakers of English. As an example, the adjective "fast" collocates with "cars" but not with "look." Learning collocations is the most important part of learning the vocabulary of a language. Some collocations seem fixed or very strong. In "take a photo," no word other than "take" collocates with the photo to give the same meaning. The other example is "make an effort" and not "do an effort." Some collocations are more open, because several words may go together to give a similar meaning, for example, "keep to or stick to the rules." Sometimes, a pair of words may not be wrong, and people will understand it, but it may not be the natural collocation. If someone says I did a few mistakes, a fluent speaker of English may understand, but it would probably say, "I made a few mistakes." ❖ True / False ٥٠. ۴	Passage ٢ Elderly people have to deal with the problems of aging, especially those related to health and income. Health-related issues commonly include normal losses of hearing, eyesight and memory. In addition, the elderly run a high risk of developing some serious illnesses such as kidney problem, stomach cancer, diabetes, and heart disease. While some people do not experience these issues until very old age, a lot of them learn to find a way to live with the limitations caused by health problems. Nowadays, elderly people receive better medical care during their lives as most governments have national health plans for them. Income, as another important problem, has also influenced the way the elderly live. Most of these people are retired and do not work anymore. They usually earn about half the money that working people make. As a result, they may face various economic issues. This makes the situation even more difficult for those who do not have suitable houses, have no access to means of transportation and not receive social services. Something needs to be done to improve their condition so that they feel more hopeful	P
